

Easy to use GIS software products

IDgis developes and builds GIS-software for companies, governmental and non profit organisations. IDgis assists organisation in analysing their workflow, and offers support during and after the introduction of the software. Read more about our services ...

IDgisspecializes in GIS combined with Database and Internet Technology. Especially Internet Technology makes it possible to create easy to use software products. Therefore, our customers do not need extended knowledge on the field of GIS, in order to work with the software of IDgis. Read more about our products ...

IDgis often works on project basis. Besides easy to use general GIS applications, such as Geoide software, IDgis offers tailor made solutions. Read more about our projects ...

IDgis developed over the past three years a powerful, user-friendly GIS web-viewer and web-service package named Geoide. Geoide is based on the open source software of the deegree project.